Steering Ships by Electricity.

Engineering.

A patent has recently been taken out for a means of steering a ship by electricity. The apparatus is the invention of W. F. King, an Edinburgh electrician, and was recently tried on board a steamer sailing between Glasgow and London. Its object is to dispense with a helmsman, and make the compass itself steer the ship. For this purpose the compass card is fitted with an index which is set to the true course, and one degree on either side of the true course two metal contact pins are adjusted, each pin is connected to a single Daniell cell, and when the ship deviates a degree from her course to one side or the other the index comes in contact with one of the metal pins. The result is that a positive or negative current flows and actuates a hydraulic apparatus which works the helm.

For Spite.

The Marysville (Ohio) Bulletin says that a monument has lately been erected near that place by her sons to a lady named Savage. Her father prohibited her marriage with an attractive man in her own rank of life, and, bitterly resenting this, she married a colored musician of polished manners, by whom she had three sons. She and her husband lie buried in a picturesque, secluded spot, which she selected, on their farm.

Under the Linen.

N. Y. Sun.

A St. Louis physician says that the gum exuded from the linden produces a deadly poison known as "lindoline." A cat inoculated with a needle dipped in "lindoline" died in eighteen seconds. The doctor thinks that a pin scratch touched with it would kill a man in two minutes. It is an antidote for morphine poisoning, but it must be very largely diluted. It is from the linden that most of our wooden toothpicks are made.

Honesty's Reward.

N. Y. Sun.

A bag containing something like $500 in gold, intrusted to a well-known public official, was recently left by that gentleman in a headcase cab in London. Shortly after dismissing the vehicle the loss was discovered, but before any steps could be taken for its recovery, the money was returned intact by the driver. As a reward for his honesty the lucky finder immediately received half a crown.

Wicked for Clergymen.

"I believe it to be all wrong and even wicked for clergymen or other public men to be led into giving testimony to such doctors of the law as called medicines, at all when a really meritorious article, made of valuable remedies known to all, that a physician use and trust in, and we should freely commend it. I therefore cheerfully and heartily commend Hop Bitters for the good they have done me and my family. I am satisfied they have no equal for family use. I will not be without them." Rev. Wm. Anderson, D. C.

Remember the oldest jewelry establishment in Reno, where you can find the best and largest stock of gold watches and chains, also jewelry, all of which are offered cheaper than any other house in Nevada or California. Call and see for yourself. L. FARRAR.

NEARING THE END.

In common with every compassionate element in this great republic, we dislike to forecast the death of President Garfield. Even now when his nearest friends have ceased to hope there is a natural desire to hope on and ever for the brave man at whose bedside the nation has watched through so many days and nights of suffering. The American people have suffered with Garfield, and at his death a cloud of mourning will cover this free land. We believe that whatever skill can do has been done. It is idle to criticize his attendants, who are already overwhelmed by the responsibility of the nation's welfare.

If, as seems probable, the end is at hand, we can believe in the native strength and loyalty of Americans to preserve the fruits of his labor. We can all participate in that profound and unfeigned sorrow which national hope and sympathy has foreseen, and we can know that the history of a free people cannot be written without containing numberless pages which shall be radiant with the name of James Abram Garfield.

The first of American citizens stands upon the border of the dark river. He hears the end of life. If he shall leave us, the nation can but send to him its love and gratitude for the high purpose and noble achievements of a devoted life, as the martyr takes his place among the immortals in the unseen beyond.

THE DUTY OF THE HOUR.

The American people are waiting to hear that death has claimed President Garfield. It is probable that the news will reach us before another day is done. It now becomes the duty of a great people to prepare their minds for the events of another political day. It becomes them to prepare for that action which the pale sufferer in the White House would himself advise. Garfield has labored faithfully, and for a Government which, he would say, does not depend upon the life of any man. If Chester A. Arthur is to assume the executive functions of the Government, every worthy American will bear up his hands and help him to be what Garfield would have been. This is no time for misrepresentation. Grief must not become self-hurtful spite. If lovers of Garfield's name will emulate his patriotism, Arthur will preside over a loyal and hopeful union of all sections throughout the land.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

No man can go into bad company without suffering for it. The homely old proverb has it very tersely: "A man can't bite the bottom out of a frying pan without smutting his nose. Granville Bonanza.

A. L. Henshaw of Phenix has been in a serious condition from the bite of a poisonous fly.

The following are the full particulars regarding the recent Hassayampa disaster: There were four outfits encamped in the creek when a freshet came down, caused by a cloud-burst at Antelope Creek. The water came down the stream in one solid volume fifteen feet high. One outfit was from Maricopa and three from Phenix. The freight and wagons were destroyed but the animals were saved with the exception of two.

The "Top and Bottom" gang of confidence men, which have so long infested Benson, Arizona, was Tuesday broken up and the members driven out of the town. Two of the leaders of the gang—Ed. Byrne and Mart Mahan—got into a shooting affray, and Deputy Sheriff McComas was shot in the thigh. The citizens then armed and captured the rendezvous of the entire gang, and took the furniture into the street and burned it. They then notified the party that if they did not leave town on the next train there would be some hanging done. The entire outfit left on the west-bound train. Byrne was arrested and taken to Tombstone under $3,000 bail.

What the Director Said.

A Boston reporter, while in the office of the New York and Boston Despatch Express Company, had a conversation with Mr. B. F. Larabee, one of the directors of the company, who gave the following personal experience. "A little over a year ago I was taken sick. I did not know what the trouble was, but I continued to grow worse, and my complaint baffled the skill of my doctors. At last my symptoms developed into that terrible complaint, Bright's Disease, which has been pronounced incurable by all physicians. My sufferings at that time were unspeakable; I was bloated from head to foot; my heart pained me; my pulse was irregular, and I was unable to breathe, except in short, convulsive gasps. While suffering thus I learned of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, and although I had been given up to die by the prominent physicians of Boston, and they had told my friends I could not live a week, I resolved to try this remedy as a last resort. I am rejoiced to say it has effected a perfect cure in my case, and with many of my friends, who have been afflicted with either of long standing or in their acute forms, and who, under my advice, have used this most wonderful remedy."

FRESH FISH.

A Dangerous Rival for Hub Parker Discovered in Arizona.

Dick Rule, candidate for Clerk of the Supreme Court in this State in 1878, is Fish Commissioner in Arizona. There is no water there except in wells. Dick also runs the Tombstone Nugget. Here is one of his fish proclamations. "Fish are amphibious animals, and require considerable water to keep them from smelling bad. In importing fish great care should be taken in securing good, sound ones, if they smell the chances are that they are sick, and should be carefully nursed. See that no cold air strikes them, and that the water they drink is pure. In propagating the female should be furnished with a good nest, and should not set on more than 18 eggs. With a larger family she could not bring them up properly, and Arizona fish should be well behaved. Have a canteen of fresh water convenient, if it can be procured, so that her fishship can take a drink without going down town. It is much cheaper as well, for even 'bit' drinks count up. In transplanting great care should be taken in the preparation of the soil, which should be of a loose mucky-muck, stirred up from the bottom, with a light dressing on top, after the fashion of the Tucson belle. Don't put more than three eyes in a hill, which should be at least three feet apart, to prevent gossip and allow the fish to spread themselves. Follow the rules to the letter, and place no reliance in the adage that it is a poor rule that won't work both ways. This is o-fishal."

Construction of Mining Law.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office puts the following construction upon Section 2,336, U. S. Statutes, "where two or more veins," etc.:

The uniform construction placed upon this section is, that the space of intersection meant, is determined solely by the width of the intersecting veins, and not the width of the claims. For instance, the party making the first location is entitled to all the surface ground and the full extent of the vein included within his boundaries, including the space of intersection. The second locator is entitled to the full length of his location exclusive of the conflicting surface ground, and the space of intersection of veins. If the intersecting veins are respectively ten feet in width, the space of intersection would be ten feet square, and the party locating last would not be entitled under the law to ten feet of lode included in the space of intersection.

Presentation.

Last evening Geo. Senf, Virginia, S. W. Chubbuck, Gold Hill, A. Ardrey, W. D. Mann and J. F. Farrell of Carson, W. D. Phillips, F. H. McDonald and F. C. Peterson of Reno invaded the residence of Frank Bell, ex-Superintendent of the second division, W. U. Tel. Co. On behalf of the employees of the company in this division, they presented to Mr. Bell a fine silver tea set. The service consists of a full set with tray, ice pitcher and goblet, perfume stand and butter dish; in all thirteen pieces, all gold lined, illuminated with telegraphic designs and appropriately inscribed. The usual presentation speeches were made and acknowledged. It was a genuine surprise to Mr. Bell.

The Victorine Mine.

Hon. J. Spencer, an old friend of Hon. Jerry Schelling, and who lives about twenty-five miles from Austin, informs the GAZETTE that matters are lively in Kingston Canyon. An English company with which E. S. Stokes is interested, has bought the old Mountain Star and Kingston locations. The company now employs 100 men, and will immediately erect O'Hara furnaces enough to work one hundred tons of ore per month. The ore is said to be rich. The Mountain Star is an immense ledge.

More Certificates.

Deputy Supt. of Schools Bowen, and Prof. Orya Ring are holding a special examination of teachers. The following are being examined: Misses Lou Spencer, Menie Grippen and Leona Ransom, and J. A. Sands and Bards Summerfield.

And Again.

Charles Knust is becoming famous for his hams, that is, for the hams which he sells. He has just received another large lot of "Our Taste." They are fine.

CORNER STONE CEREMONIES.

Programme of the Exercises to take Place To-Morrow.

As has been mentioned, the laying of the corner stone at the new Asylum will take place to-morrow under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Masons. The Grand Lodge will convene in the hall of Reno Lodge, No. 18, at 12 m. to-morrow. After organization the lodge will proceed to the grounds, arriving before 2 p. m. Grand Master H. S. Mason will preside over the ceremonies at the Asylum, assisted by other grand officers and members. The order of exercises at the grounds will be as follows:

Music by the band.

Music—Choir.

Prayer by the Worthy Grand Chaplain.

Song—Choir.

Reading of list of articles to be placed in the Corner Stone.

Laying of the Corner Stone.

Oration—Grand Orator, H. L. Fish.

Singing—Choir.

Music by the band.

Immediately after returning to town a banquet will be given at the Depot Hotel. One hundred covers will be laid, and the Masons, with their invited guests, will partake of the usual "feast of reason and flow of soul."

DETECTIVE DOINGS.

The Unfortunate Flight in Which Three Car Robbers Find Themselves Through the Action of Constable Avery.

It now appears that Coleman and Howard, recently sentenced here for petit larceny, have been efficient members of a gang of car robbers. The C. P. detectives have been after them since June 28th, and might have been yet but for their capture by Constable Avery. Last night the detectives discovered goods at Boca which had been stolen at Truckee, Cisco and other points. They now know where the men are and have gone over the line of operations to look up the stolen goods. The necessary papers are prepared and the larcenists will be arrested as soon as their sentence has been served out. The third member of the firm, Frank Whitney, has already been held to answer here for burglary. The detective are loud in their praise of Constable Avery's master stroke, and say the case has been worked exceedingly well from beginning to end. Considering that Avery does not make a cent by these extra exertions, it is but fair to credit him when he has deserved it. Coleman, Howard and Whitney all have a season of retirement and needed rest in store for them.

Police Court.

Last evening Constable Avery observed a gentleman named O. Phaneuf with a small vial of fire water in his possession. Avery followed Phaneuf and observed him in the act of selling the beverage to a dusky maiden of the forest. The Constable thereupon scooped the entire outfit, whiskey, money and man. Judge Young feels hurt at P.'s conduct, as he has been sent over twice for vagrancy and once for selling liquor to Lo. His trial was set for 2 o'clock to-day.

This afternoon at the close of a brief matinee Judge Young considered Phaneuf as radically wrong, and gave him $300 fine or 100 days in the county jail. The prisoner was short just $199 50, and so went over.

Good News.

Through private letters received this morning the GAZETTE learns that Isaac Chamberlain is in about the same condition as at last accounts. Dr. Plummer, who is in attendance, thinks now that there is no abscess, but a simple enlargement of the liver. Chamberlain's friends are anxiously awaiting the return of Dr. L. C. Lane to the city. If he does not return soon further medical assistance will be called in.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Blaine to Lowell.

WASHINGTON, August 25.

The President has lost ground to-day. Some of his symptoms this afternoon and evening are of the gravest. Condition of the swollen gland and of pulse and temperature suggest serious and alarming complications. His mind, at intervals, has been somewhat clouded and wandering. His strength fails, but he still swallows liquid food of nourishing character, and apparently digests it. On this one fact rests hope that there is still left hope for a reaction.

BLAINE.

Another Serious Turn.

Special to the Gazette.

WASHINGTON, August 25.

Executive Mansion, 10 p. m.—Although no information can yet be obtained directly from the attending physicians, it is understood that the President's case has taken an unfavorable turn this evening, and that the swollen parotid gland, throughout which pus is now forming in small cells or pockets, threatens immediate serious consequences.

Private Messages.

[Special to the Gazette.]

New York, Aug. 25, 10:15 p. m. A private dispatch from the White House says appearances at the President's chamber indicate that the case has taken a serious turn.

The Last Hope.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—2 A. M. At this hour all is quiet about the Mansion. The members of the Cabinet who remained some time after the house had been closed, left at 11 o'clock. Two policemen kept watch at the entrance to the grounds, and report everything quiet. It is now thought that the President will last till Saturday or Sunday. His recovery seems now out of the question.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, Aug. 26—4 A. M. No noticeable change has occurred in the President's condition during the last hour. He is now asleep. The physicians are dozing and the members of the family are still asleep.

This Morning's News.

Special to the Gazette.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26, 6:15 A. M. The physicians and attendants cannot yet be seen, but from the best information obtainable at this hour, it is believed that there has been no decided change for the better since midnight. The President's sleep during the night was frequently interrupted by restlessness.

This Morning's Bulletin.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. Executive Mansion, 8:30 A. M.—The President slept most of the night, awakening at intervals of half an hour. On first awakening there was, as there has been for several nights past, some mental confusion, which disappeared when he was fully aroused, and occasionally he muttered in his sleep. These symptoms have abated this morning, as on previous days. At present his temperature is slightly above the normal, his pulse a little more frequent than yesterday morning. Pulse, 118; temperature, 99; respiration, 17.

Signed: D. W. BLISS, and others.

The Latest News More Hopeful.

Special to the Gazette.

WASHINGTON, August 26.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, 3 P. M. But very little information was obtained direct from the physicians concerning the condition of the President this morning prior to the issuance of the morning bulletin. The absence of all reference in this bulletin to the general condition of the President and to parotid swelling, was at once noticed, and commented upon by those waiting for it. The situation is considered by many as less hopeful than it was last night at midnight and by others as more so. Attorney General MacVegh, pronounced it as extremely critical, and when asked this morning how long he thought this suspense would continue, replied: "God only knows." Postmaster General James and Secretary Hunt telegraphed to Thurlow Weed that a gleam of hope at 10 A. M. came from a surgeon. His symptoms were no worse, and improvement is not impossible. Dr. Bliss came out of the Surgeon's room about 9:30 this morning and telegraphed to his wife that the President was a little better than last night. In reply to interrogation he said that his pulse this morning was frequent, and that the parotid swelling had broken into the right ear, and was discharging through that orifice. Patient's mind was clearer and he conversed rationally with the surgeons about the condition of the inflamed gland. He partook of food which seemed to be grateful to him, and his general condition appeared to be a little improved. The doctor expressed himself as hopeful that the swollen gland would be relieved by the discharge through the ear, and that he would pull through thereby without much change.

Garfield and Arthur.

New York, Aug. 26.

A personal friend says that if the opportunity is given Vice President Arthur, through the threatened calamity to the country, he will prove as much of a statesman as he is a politician. It is denied that the personal relations of Arthur with Garfield are even unpleasant, much less hostile. After the resignation of Conkling and Platt, and when it was finally decided there was no way open for compromise or reconciliation, Arthur plainly told President Garfield that he felt bound in honor to sustain his two friends, and added: "I trust, Mr. President, you will not think there is anything personal to you in my action." The President, in his usual hearty way, took hold of General Arthur by the shoulder, and said: "Personal, my dear fellow, I know you have no such petty feeling at all."

Nashby stays with his thermometer when it comes down so does he. To-day it said 72, 72, 70, 69. He says: "All kinds of lead pencils for 5 cents each."

California Central Railway.

Says the Silver State: Colonel Lyman Bridges, formerly of Battle Mountain, and W. L. French, well known in this community, passed west yesterday, on their return from Utah. One is the Chief Engineer and the other a Director of the California Central Railway, which they have been making a preliminary survey of. They say the route of this proposed road is from San Francisco south, along the coast to Santa Cruz; thence east, across the State of California, passing through the Yosemite valley, and entering Nevada about twelve miles from Bodie; thence, across Nevada, to Iron Springs, in Southern Utah, where it will connect with the Utah Southern. They traveled by wagon over the proposed road from near Bodie to Utah. They say there will be several surveying parties in the field shortly, and several thousand men will be employed grading the road this winter.

Trotting Match.

The trot which was set for to-morrow at 2 o'clock, has been re-set for 10 o'clock A. M., so that parties attending may be in time for the corner stone ceremonies in the afternoon.

A Parisian's Idea of Paris.

Victor Cherbuliez.

To the intrigant and to a man of ambition, Paris is the city where one arrives at everything. To the restless radical it is the holy capital of Revolution, the Jerusalem of the emigrant, for the man of capital it is a money market which would be incomparable if London did not exist; to the savant it is one of the greatest ateliers of the human mind; to the man of imagination it is the museum where curiosity can be fully satisfied; for a man of pleasure it is a caravansary, where he has only to stoop to pick them up; for a pretty woman it is the only place in the world where she can dress herself and for the gourmand the only one where people know how to eat; for the cab-horse it is a hell, where they sweat and grow thin; for the philosopher it is an observatory, where one can philosophize as much as one pleases because it is easy to hide there, and see all without being seen for the lounge it is the only spot in the world where each day some new event takes place, on which it is impossible to utter some original bon mot; to the moralist it is a great thoroughfare, where the most shameful vices elbow the most admirable virtues.

A Notable Engagement.

London World.

I hear from Paris that some interest is felt in fashionable circles there by the announcement of the approaching marriage of the Duchesse de Richelieu with Sir Hickman Bacon, Bart. The Duchesse, who bears the historical name of Richelieu, has been a widow about two years. She is the daughter of M. and Mme. Heine, Franco-American-German stars in the financial firmament of Paris, and it is expected that she will inherit a very large fortune. Sir Hickman Bacon is the premier baronet of England, and is known in society chiefly by the remarkably short term of his militia career in the Guards.

The Duchesse de Richelieu is a staunch Roman Catholic; Sir Hickman is understood to lean towards the extreme Ritualism; so that it is not probable religious views will offer any insuperable bar to the match.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor, which had so prostrated him that he was unable to do any business." He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It saved him from a life of suffering, and it took away the appetite for liquor. It made him nervous steady, and he has remained a sober and steady man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to the cup. I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading U. S. Official, Chicago, Ill.
